NEW LAW CALLS FOR CHANGE IN MANY SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Two Cities of Orange County Hit By Provisions of Newly Enacted Measure

ORANGETHORPE LOSES HALF TO FULLERTON

Stanton Contains Part of Three When It Must Be One or Part of One Only

At least half a dozen school districts of Orange county are going to have to undergo changes in their boundaries in order to conform to the requirements of a law passed by the last Legislature.

Without intending to be voracious, Fullerton is going to swallow half of the territory of the Orangethorpe school district and three sections of the Placentia school district.

Although Stanton has not a single school house within its boundaries, there has got to be a Stanton school district.

There is going to be some fretting done by some of the school authorities before the thing is straightened out. The last Legislature, which passed the tax limitation law that has exploded bombs among some of the educators, also passed a law that makes the school district the unit of assessment. Hitherto it has been the road district. Hereafter school districts can not lap over from one supervisory district into another. Neither can a school district shove an arm out into or allow any part of its body to rest over inside the boundaries of any city of the Sixth class. A city of the Sixth class must be a whole or a part of one school district.

Their Lines Cross

Inside the city limits of Fullerton there can be no territory of any school district except Fullerton. At the present time the Fullerton school district is not as big as the incorporated city of Fullerton. Half of Orangethorpe school district is north of the south city limits line, and three sections of highly assessed territory now in the Placentia school district lies inside the city limits of Fullerton. The city of Stanton contains parts of three school districts. Two-thirds of the Magnolia district, one-third of the Savanna district and half of the Alamitos district lie inside of the city limits of Stanton. Such a thing can no longer be. Every foot of territory inside Stanton must belong to one district.

Fullerton can either expand its school district lines to include Orangethorpe or Placentia or both. That might help get the kinks out of the situation. Orangethorpe with a good-sized school to support is not likely to give up half of its tax-paying territory without a struggle. Just what can be done and just what will be done is not yet settled. The thing came down so suddenly upon school authorities here today that they have not yet had time to figure out just what ought to be done.

The formation of union districts may be suggested as one of the ways out of the woods.

To Call Meeting
The wheels got to going this morning when it was discovered that there is such a law. In order to get school tax rates straightened out, the boundary line question must be settled soon. County School Superintendent Mitchell said that the trustees of the districts who have had trouble created for them have not yet been informed of the situation. Mitchell just learned of the law this morning. He expects to go before the Board of Supervisors and have formal notice sent to the various trustees of the districts affected, and have them come in for a talk.

Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Orange and Anaheim are all cities of the Sixth class, but each of them is an entire school district or part of one. They need not worry over this particular law.

Santa Ana is a city of the Fifth class, and its school district and city lines coincide.

Holderman Qualifies Passes Rigorous Test

Captain of Company L Makes Appeal For Recruits From Santa Ana

"I want to take a considerable number of recruits back to camp with me, when I go. Company L needs more men and needs them badly. I will give my unqualified assurance that I will look after the interests of any man who enlists in my company."

In these words Captain N. M. Holderman of Company L, Seventh Regt., N. G. C., today made an appeal for enlistments.

Captain Holderman is in Santa Ana after having passed the United States Army examinations for captain, at Arcadia. The examinations were most rigorous. Captain Holderman said. They started at 7 o'clock each morning and continued until 6 o'clock every evening, for nine days. The tests were conducted along theoretical lines and covered a wide range.

The commander of the Santa Ana National Guard company took the examinations pursuant to the recent war department order that all officers in the National Guard be examined as to their fitness to command troops when sworn into the regular army.

Captain Holderman said that the boys under his command are all in the best of health. In his own words, "they are getting fat." He said he had not the least idea as to when his company would go into training camp from "Somewhere in California."

"Drafted men," Captain Holderman said, "will be used to fill up the National Guard units to war strength. Naturally, I would much rather have my company filled up with volunteers, from Santa Ana and Orange county. It seems to me that their better judgment would tell Santa Anans, within the conscription age, to enlist now, and in Company L, where they will have the advantage of being under the command of officers from their home community. If they wait to be drafted they may be sent anywhere and be under strange officers.

"When I leave for camp I want to take recruits with me. I will look after the interests of every man under my command."

S. F. DRAFT BOARDS REARRANGING PLANS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Following a ruling by Provost Marshal General Crowder that exemption boards must post the registration lists at a place inside their precinct and that the boards must not hold their meetings outside their districts, San Francisco's exemption boards are hustling to rearrange their plans today. Some of the boards already had posted their lists and opened headquarters in downtown locations.

TROOPS ARREST SCORES AS BIG I. W. W. MENACE GROWS ACUTE

Inland Empire Farmers Arming to Resist Undue Activity By Agitators

BISBEE, Ariz., July 12.—Between 3000 and 3500 I. W. W.'s have been herded into a baseball park by armed men and are today being loaded into cattle cars for deportation to an unnamed place. It is reported that two men were killed. Fifteen hundred citizens sworn in as deputies began the roundup. Governor Campbell has wired Federal authorities that the situation is beyond control in the state. He asked that troops be held in readiness for use in Bisbee.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 12.—State, county and Federal authorities in the Northwest today are making a determined effort to stamp out the I. W. W. menace. The situation in Idaho, Washington and Oregon is declared to be growing more acute daily.

Federal troops have been called in to action in some districts. At Ellensburg, Wash., soldiers arrested between fifty and sixty I. W. W.'s charged with interfering with the harvesting of crops and the operation of logging camps. The I. W. W.'s were placed in a stockade. Troops in the Yakima valley, Wash., have arrested a number of I. W. W.'s and taken possession of the agitators' headquarters. Farmers throughout the inland empire are arming themselves, preparing to resist by force any undue I. W. W. activity in their territory. Governor Moses Alexander of Idaho will ask Governor Lister of Washington to stop I. W. W. speaking in Spokane. Spokane, according to Alexander, is the I. W. W. headquarters for the Idaho Pan Handle where lumber camps have been tied up.

United States Attorney Clarence Reames, who declared recently that the I. W. W., backed by German money, was the greatest menace to the government, is in the Coos Bay district, Southern Oregon, today to conduct a personal investigation of the I. W. W. there. Armed guards and deputy sheriffs are patrolling main-line railroads leading east from Puget Sound. They have been ordered to arrest all found "beating their way."

GLOBE SEES NO RELIEF FROM I. W. W. STRIKE

GLOBE, Ariz., July 12.—Despite assurances from Washington that federal protection will be afforded them, citizens of Globe today see no relief from the I. W. W. strike here, where mines are still tied up and the copper industry paralyzed.

"Federal troops is not what we need," said one prominent business man today. "We've got them now. What we need is not more troops but less I. W. W.'s."

Recommendation that mediation conferences be suspended have been made by federal conciliator John J. McBride. This leaves the situation exactly where it was in the beginning.

Considerable resentment from citizens marked announcement here that Governor Campbell had been "warned" he would "be held responsible for the safety and protection of I. W. W.'s of Jerome."

SHUNTING OF I. W. W.'S TO CALIFORNIA STOPPED

SAN BERNARDINO, July 12.—No more I. W. W.'s will be shunted across the Arizona-California line into this state. Governor Tom Campbell of Arizona wired assurance of this to District Attorney T. W. Duckworth in response to Duckworth's protest against the Jerome industrialists being shipped to Needles.

17 SLAIN IN ALASKA STRIKE BATTLE, REPORT

SEATTLE, July 12.—Seventeen men were killed in a strike battle at Cordova, Alaska, according to a miner returning from there today. Demands for higher wages started the strike.

ARSON SUSPECTED IN COLTON MILL BLAZE

COLTON, July 12.—Incendiarism is being investigated today by the police following partial destruction by fire last night of the big plant of the Globe Milling Company here. Damage estimated at $50,000 was done.

60,000 ENCIRCLE IMPERIAL ARMY IN PEKING; BATTLE NEAR

70 Heavy Guns of Republican Army Frown Upon Capital City

TIENTSIN, July 12.—Sixty thousand republican troops now surround Peking.

Remnants of imperialist forces under General Chang Hsun are entrenching themselves inside the capital city. The republicans are armed with seventy heavy guns.

A battle is imminent.

STEEL MAGNATES HEED WILSON'S RATE WARNING

Barons Promise Not to Extort Blood Money In Big Profits On Their Products

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Steel makers of the nation today promised to heed President Wilson's warning against extorting blood money in big profits on their products. Meeting with government chiefs, representatives of all the steel interests offered to place their plants at government disposal and accept a price on their products to be fixed later. This price will be in keeping with President Wilson's idea of a patriotic margin.

Summoning American business to the colors, President Wilson, in an "address to the mine operators and manufacturers of the United States," stated plainly what the government's program of determining just prices is. The President looks to every business man to meet the situation in a big way. "Prices," he said, "mean victory or defeat."

Declaring that it will be the effort to determine prices "justly, and to the best advantage of the nation as a whole," the President continued:

"But justice is easier to speak of than to arrive at, and there are some considerations which I hope we shall all keep steadily in mind while this particular problem of justice is being worked out."

Saying that "a just price must, of course, be paid for everything the government buys," the President said that "we could not wisely or reasonably do less than pay such prices. They are necessary for the maintenance and development of industry; and the maintenance and development of industry are necessary for the great task we have in hand. But I trust that we shall not surround the matter with a mist of sentiment. We ought not to put the acceptance of such prices on the ground of patriotism. Patriotism has nothing to do with profits in a case like this. Patriotism and profits ought never in the present circumstances to be mentioned together. * * * Patriotism leaves profits out of the question. In these days of our supreme trial when we are sending hundreds of thousands of our young men across the seas to serve a great cause, no true man who stays behind to work for them and sustain them by his labor will ask himself what he is personally going to make out of that labor.

"No true patriot will permit himself to take toll of their heroism in money or seek to grow rich by the shedding of their blood. He will give as freely and with as unstinted self-sacrifice as they. * * * Your patriotism is of the same self-denying stuff as the patriotism of the men dead or maimed on the fields of France, or else it is not patriotism at all. * * * The fact is that those who have fixed war freight rates have taken the most effective means in their power to defeat the armies engaged against Germany. * * * I know, and you know, what response to this great challenge of duty and of

Gigantic Gains Made By Slavs In Swift Galicia Onslaughts

LONDON, July 12.—On the whole of the British line the Prussians are more active than at any time during the past year, according to front dispatches today. South of the Scarpe the Germans took a portion of a trench west of the Vert wood on Infantry Hill.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The reorganized Rumanian army has joined in the Russian offensive, according to Petrograd cables received today at the Russian embassy.

The Russian advance continues along a greatly widened front of 350 miles, the advices stated.

There is general fighting from the Carpathians to Pinsk.

At the same time the state department admitted having heard a report that the Turks under General Mackensen are about to make a new drive in Mesopotamia.

PETROGRAD, July 12.—Russian troops have occupied Kalusch, formerly headquarters of the Austrian army, taking many prisoners, according to a dispatch from headquarters today.

Kalusch (or Kalus) is approximately 20 miles southwest of Halicz between the rivers Sivka and Lomnica and on the main road between Stanislaw and Stry in Galicia. Its capture indicates an amazing progress of the Russian offensive forces through the break in the German lines around Halicz.

The official statement said:

"Kalusch was captured after a stubborn and sanguinary battle."

LONDON, July 12.—Over more than 120 miles of front from Tarnopol to the Carpathians, Russia's revived armies were battling their way forward today. In the few days of their offensive they have penetrated the Austro-German line at two places, have captured a score of cities, towns and villages, crossed two great rivers and taken close to 43,000 prisoners with a vast number of guns and material. The Galicia stronghold of Lemberg is now directly menaced.

The Teutons evidently regarded the Brusilov offensive disdainfully when it started July 2. Dispatches from the front today quoted Austrian prisoners as declaring they had been assured by their commanders that the Russians did not have sufficient ammunition; that their supplies were meager and that the Russian troops could not be expected to fight more than a day or two.

The Russians have not followed this German schedule, however, and by their splendid fighting and complete co-ordination of transport and food service, have placed at least two large sections of the Teutonic line in grave jeopardy. The Austrian forces around Lemberg are imperiled by a flanking movement from Halicz. North, around Tarnopol, the breach in their lines is so wide that a great retreat may have to be made to save large forces.

BRITISH HURL BACK NIGHT FEELER RAIDS OF TEUTONS

ALONG BELGIAN COAST
LONDON, July 12.—Evidently seeking information preliminary to another attempt to advance along the Belgian sea coast, German troops attempted a general raid last night, south of Lombardzyde. Field Marshal Haig reported the maneuver today, declaring the Germans had been successfully driven off.

Britons were surprised, but not perturbed, by the German success on the coast reported yesterday. There were three guesses as to what the motive behind the German attack was. First of all, many observers here believed it was to anticipate a British offensive expected in that region. Others believed the Germans attacked

DEMOUNTABLE SLEEVES FOR SHIRTS, NEW FAD

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—A shirt with demountable sleeves is the latest Los Angeles invention.

Elvin Almort, a medical student at the University of Southern California, is the inventor.

The shirt has sleeves which button on to the shirt body just above the elbows so the wearer has a sport shirt for the beach, a sleeveless shirt for operating work in the University laboratory and the regular garment for business wear.

337 Will Be Drafted in County, Is Indication

According to the methods to be urged in figuring for the draft as outlined in the dispatches, next week's draft will result in the drawing of 337 names from the lists of Orange county registrations.

The Bureau of the Census has been doing some figuring in preparation for the distribution of the call, and the statement has been made through the press that population estimates have been made for various counties and cities over the country and that the first call will take two-thirds of one per cent of the population.

The Bureau of Census estimates the population upon the registration figures only. It figures that registration is 9.32 per cent of the total population. Under that computation Orange County is put down as having a population of 50,547.

Two-thirds of one per cent of that is 337. Dividing that 337 between Exemption District No. 1, which includes

HOLLWEG IS FORCED TO RESIGN. REPORT

Kaiser Said to Be Undecided Whether to Accept Adviser's Resignation

RUMOR IS PRINTED IN VOSSICHE ZEITUNG

State Department Hears Head of Reichstag Forsakes Zimmermann and Helfferich

CROWN PRINCE IS CALLED TO BERLIN AS REFORMISTS WIN

BASEL, Switzerland, July 12.—The German emperor has notified Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg that a bill is to be submitted in the Prussian diet supplementing the carrying out of reforms proposed in the kaiser's Easter announcement.

AMSTERDAM, July 12.—The Berlin Tageblatt today is quoted in dispatches as declaring: "Chancellor Hollweg's position is strengthened by the Emperor's confidence. He will not retire."

LONDON, July 12.—German reform elements have succeeded in forcing the kaiser to summon the crown prince to Berlin so that the heir to the German throne shall subscribe to the constitutional reforms they plan, according to dispatches here today. The reformists recognize that if changes are won in the Prussian administration the pledge of the crown prince, next to the throne, must be obtained to make them permanent.

ZURICH, July 12.—The situation in Berlin between the government and the majority parties of the reichstag has become appreciably worse in the past twenty-four hours, advices here state.

NBERNE, July 12.—The Vossiche Zeitung declared today that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg had resigned. The newspaper asserted that the kaiser was undecided whether to accept his resignation.

The Vossiche Zeitung is one of the leading liberal newspapers of Berlin.

Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg recently became decidedly unpopular with both the militarist and socialist factions in Germany. He antagonized the militarists by his declaration at a meeting of the Prussian diet that the tide of democracy could not be stemmed and incensed the socialists in announcing that the policy of no annexations would not be acceptable to Germany.

Hollweg has been more or less in disfavor with the military chiefs since the very beginning of the war, when he made his celebrated assertion that treaties were mere "scraps of paper," thus betraying the war party's attitude and causing world-wide criticism in Germany.

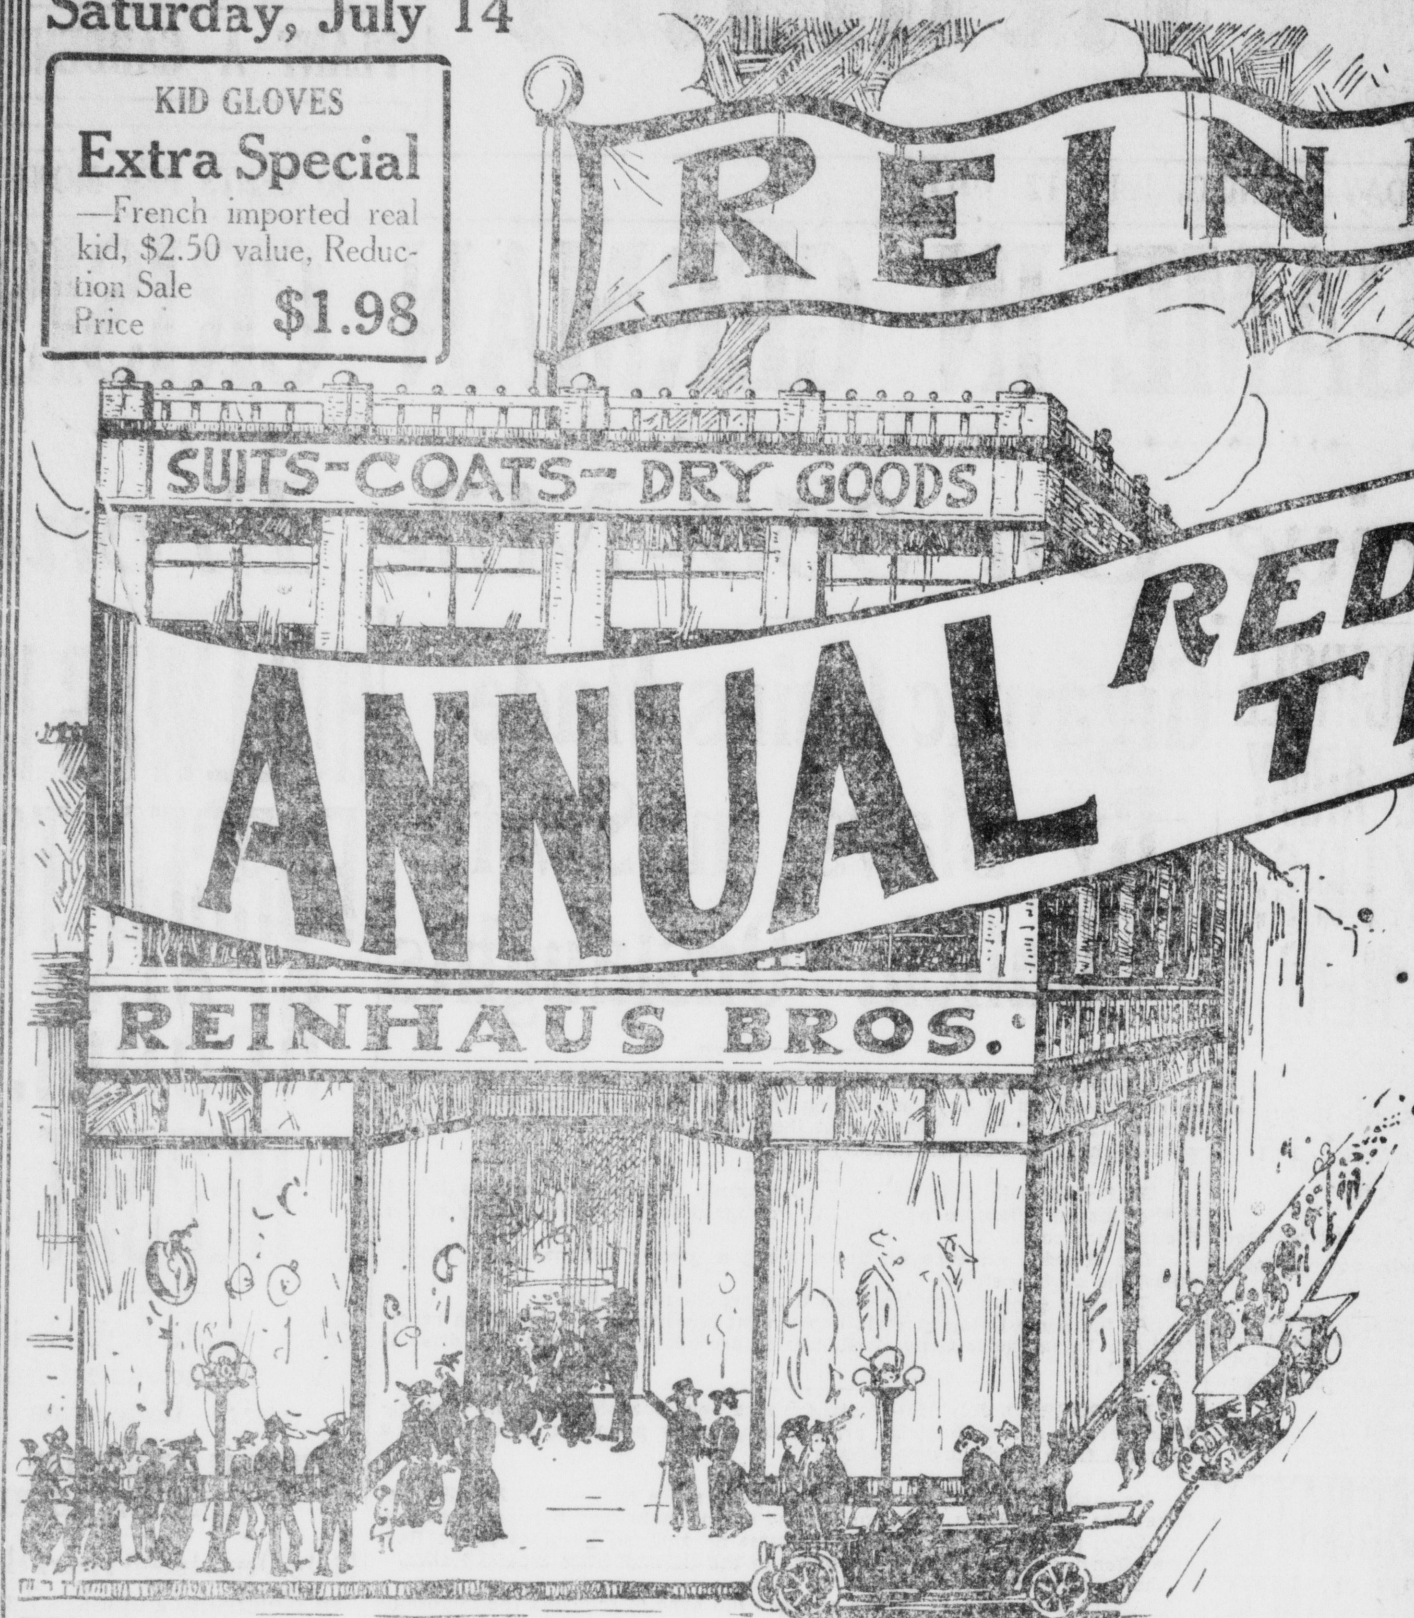

He was kept in power, however, because the junkers were always complete control and Hollweg has always had the complete backing of the kaiser.

One of those mentioned as his successor is Prince von Buelow, the former chancellor. Buelow was replaced some time ago after he had insisted

LAW TO GET YOU IF YOU LOAN FRIEND R. R. TICKET

Effective July 27, Section
Prohibits Loaning Friend
a Commutation Ticket

Santa Ana people who have been riding on commutation tickets of friends, or have been purchasing them of parties who sell single or round-trip tickets from commutation books at a small advance over the cost, will after July 27, lay themselves liable to arrest on a misdemeanor charge, with penalty varying from jail sentence to fine from $5 to $50.

Passed particularly to relieve conditions in San Francisco, a section added to the section of the Penal Code covering ticket scalpers and brokers at the last session of the legislature, affects the use of the commutation tickets in all sections of the state.

The added section makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to use a ticket issued in another's name, and is designed to do away with the practice of many of selling a single or round-trip ticket at a small profit.

The activities of scalpers, together with their boldness, in selling commutation tickets on city electric lines in San Francisco caused the railroad people to go to the legislature with their troubles, and the added section was the result.

Under its provision one cannot loan a friend the use of his commutation book without making both liable to arrest.

Whether the P. E. will enforce the law in this or other cities in which it operates is not known. E. T. Battey, local agent for the company, has not been advised by his company as to the law or whether it will be strictly enforced. Conductors on the Santa Ana branch have received no instructions either, as far as could be ascertained in a short investigation this morning.

"I don't believe the company will attempt to carry the new section into effect," said a local resident this morning. "The company would have some job on its hands if it should undertake to run down the proper owner of every book that is presented to their various lines. A conductor would not have the time to verify each ticket presented to him, and if he should refuse to honor a book presented by the purchaser in the belief that it had been borrowed, the company might open the way to a big damage suit."

Another possible successor mentioned in reports to the State Department is Count Hertling, the prince minister of Bavaria.

Count von Roeder, also regarded as in line for the imperial chancellorship, succeeded Helfferich as head of the imperial treasury.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Germany, in her apparent internal strife, may be playing a big peace game, officials and diplomats warned today.

Following on the heels of official reports today that the kaiser's cabinet had undergone sweeping changes, the State Department cautioned again against exaggerating the existing state of affairs in Germany.

'FLUSH OF YOUTH' RETURNS TO METZGAR'S CHEEKS

Commerce Secretary Returns From Week's Outing In San Bernardino Mountains

Secretary J. C. Metzgar of the Chamber of Commerce is home from a week's sojourn at Keen Camp, in the San Bernardino mountains. He was accompanied by his family.

Metzgar went up into the mountains where jingling telephone bells would not disturb his rest, and forgot for the time that there was such a place as Santa Ana, the best little city on the globe.

Climbing mountains and mountain air has brought the "flush of youth" back to the cheeks of the popular secretary, the general beauty of his handsome face being marred in a measure by an ugly looking scratch across the point of his nose, resulting when he let a German-made razor slip at an inopportune moment.

A number of Santa Anans were at the camp while Metzgar was there, among them E. V. S. Pomeroy and family, Clem Dawes and children, J. A. Cranston and family, Miss Myrtle Rutherford, Miss Florence Dolg, Miss Margaret Gallup, Miss Jennie Dale and C. H. Perkins and wife.

CLOCKWORK BITS SAID BARED IN BOMB PROBE

Man Held In Mare Isle Blast Denies Knowledge of Explosion Cause

VALLEJO, July 12.—The arrest at Woodlawn, Cal., of J. Koslowski, a Pole, for investigation in connection with the explosion of the black powder magazine at Mare Island Navy Yard, was followed today by reports here that parts of clock mechanism had been found in the ruins of the magazine. Simultaneously a story went around that the naval board of inquiry, investigating the disaster, had ordered into custody at the navy yard an employee suspected of setting the bomb which is believed to have caused the explosion.

Koslowski today stoutly denied any knowledge of the causes of the explosion. He admitted that he had made application at the navy yard for enlistment as a recruit but declared that when rejected by the recruiting officers, he had left the yard immediately. He said his home is at 3351 Bound avenue, Chicago, and that he registered June 6 in precinct 20, South Chicago.

Members of the board of inquiry still maintain silence, so far as newspaper men are concerned, but it is reported that they have unearthed enough pieces of clockwork mechanism to make possible the reconstruction of the whole mechanism. Whether the clockwork found is really part of an infernal machine or merely the alarm clock of Gunner Mackenzie, who was killed by the explosion, is not known.

MONDAY TO FIX BIRCH TOTALS

President of Oil Company Is the Last Witness In Equalization Hearing

The testimony offered by the Birch Oil Company to back up its petition for a reduction of its assessment from $454,000 to $30,400 was completed yesterday afternoon, and the decision of the county board of equalization will be announced on Monday.

Considerable cross-questioning of County Assessor Sleeper brought out clearly that he had done considerable work in gathering information concerning the cost of production of the various properties in the Brea field. He contended that the Birch twenty acres is the heart of the field, and he said that in making his assessment he had used exactly the same procedure he had used for other companies. He got the production and made allowances for the cost of production.

A. Otis Birch, president of the company, testified that his company had been expending about $12,000 a month on his property but that he did not separate the figures for development and for the cost of production. He said that development is considered as part of the cost of production.

The case was submitted without argument by Attorney Woodruff for Birch. Woodruff said that the plea for a lower assessment was based upon the ground that Birch had too high an assessment when his property was compared to the properties adjoining.

A representative of the Brea Canyon Oil Company is expected here today to enter a protest against that company's assessment.

Experiments have been successfully made on a small scale at Dunfermline, Scotland, with electrical overhead discharges as affecting the growth of crops.

HIGH HONORS PAID BELGIANS AT S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Greeted with greater military honors than have been paid any visitor to San Francisco since President Taft came here in 1909, the Belgian war mission arrived in San Francisco at 9 o'clock this morning.

A battalion of infantry extended a formal military welcome, after which the Twelfth Infantry and a battery of the First Battalion, California Field Artillery, formed a military escort for the party to its hotel.

Hundreds of San Franciscans were on hand to see the Belgians make entry to San Francisco but tonight the great outpouring expected when Baron Moncheur and Lieutenant General Le Clerq will tell an audience the true story of their country's sufferings.

After an hour's rest following arrival the members of the mission were guests on an excursion around the harbor aboard the U. S. mine planter George F. Armistead and later attended a luncheon in their honor.

A public reception at 4 o'clock was the only activity scheduled for this afternoon.

Every now and then some enterprising manufacturer tries to make the humble clock alarm attractive by getting it out in a new form. While the 7 o'clock bell will never become popular, the latest form is a convenient and handsome one. The new clock is electric, both in the alarm and the time keeping system. It is run by a battery, and just below the face of the clock is a tiny electric light. A switch on a flexible cord is attached. The switch may be carried to the head of the bed, and to see the time of night a person may touch the button which lights the lamp which illuminates the face of the clock.

A system of signaling and train control invented by C. H. Woodward of Bournemouth, Eng., depends on the use of alternating currents of moderately high frequency, and if so desired it enables three independent signals to be given in the cab of an engine without the employment of contacts, ramps or triggers. The alternating current is supplied to one end of the track rails, the other end being connected to earth through a tuned condenser.

WILL LICENSE JITNEYS HERE

Orange County to Have Ordinance In Keeping With the New State Law

Orange County is to have a jitney licensing ordinance. Under a new state law, one that was supported and probably fathered by the electric railways, jitneys have to have county as well as city licenses. They also have to have state licenses.

That the new law will require each county to adopt some method of licensing passenger-hauling motor vehicles was brought to the attention of the Orange County supervisors today by Tax Agent Hill of the P. E.

The supervisors referred the matter to the district attorney with instructions to him to prepare an ordinance at once that it may be passed and be ready for use at the earliest possible moment after July 27, the date the new law goes into effect.

Hill said that the electric and steam roads have been hard hit by the jitneys, and that the law was passed upon the theory that jitneys ought to be made to pay licenses because they are using the roads that the taxpayers built, among the taxpayers being the railways.

DEMURS AT FRIDAY 13 AS DATE FOR TRIAL

STOCKTON, July 12.—John M. Donahue is a superstitious and at the same time a cautious man.

Donahue was arrested on a charge of stealing an automobile. The case was set for trial on Friday, July 13.

"Nothing doing," exclaimed Donahue when notified. "Not me. I don't go to trial on such a day as that."

The judge yielded and the case was set for Thursday, July 12.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

THE FOURTH IN ENGLAND

The Fourth of July was celebrated this year in England almost as enthusiastically as in America. By order of the king, the Stars and Stripes flew over the House of Parliament and other government buildings together with the Union Jack. All London was bedecked with American flags. Theater orchestras all played our national airs, and the Welch Guards at the royal palace changed guard to the tune of the Star-Spangled Banner. The British newspapers were full of news and appreciative comment regarding our independence day.

It was a novelty, and yet not so surprising after all. For, strange as it may seem to the average American, the British people have never held much of a grudge against us because of our war of independence. Intelligent Englishmen have always sympathized with it, from 1776 down to the present day.

Most of us forget that our revolution was a revolt not against the British people, but against George III, the last British autocrat, a "German king." A great political party, led by the ablest British statesmen, opposed the measures which drove us to revolt, and opposed the war against us. The war, too, bulked smaller in the British eye than in ours. It was for them a troublesome addition to their main enterprise, the great struggle against France under Napoleon.

Most Englishmen, though regretting the loss of such fine colonies, were relieved when they were freed from the burden, and were really glad at heart that the principles of liberty in which they themselves believed had triumphed in America. And ever since, we have been given rather generous credit in British histories and British schools.

It has been said, indeed, by British statesmen, that the existence of the British Empire itself dates from our Declaration of Independence. It was our revolt that brought the British government to its senses. After our revolutionary war its colonial policy changed. The result is seen today in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and other self-governing British colonies—loyal daughters glad to do their utmost in defense of the mother country.

BE PATIENT

Charles Edward Russell, one of the American envoys to Russia, has made a public appeal for justice to that distracted country. He asks for "a more sympathetic attitude toward the struggling democracy of Russia." He wants newspapers to stop printing wild stories of impending ruin and chaos, and readers to stop believing such stories if they are printed. For they are false and unjust, he says, and in no way indicative of the real spirit of Russia.

"There is no anarchy here. There is only a limited amount of disorder. The people of Russia, under the most trying conditions in history, have given an example of dignity and self-restraint."

"Every phase of the present situation is a logical and normal outcome of natural causes. The substance is sound and hopeful, if only other democracies will give help wholeheartedly instead of standing by to prophesy destruction. These people know their job, and will do it. It is about time to do away with criticism and give them a chance."

The advice is timely. And the praise for Russia is richly merited. The great revolution has really been accomplished with amazing self-restraint. The excesses that marked the French revolution have been wholly lacking. When the victims of the revolutionary fighting were buried, 500,000 people marched in funeral procession without the slightest disorder, through a city absolutely unpoliced. There is not, even now, a single policeman in Petrograd. The only representatives of public order visible or necessary are student volunteers.

There is much talk, but little violence. The talk is really getting somewhere. The restoration of military discipline and the launching of a great, successful drive in Galicia is an amazing achievement. Russia today has a wonderful fighting spirit, as well as wonderful self-control.

She will work out her destiny.

The Spirit of 1776 and 1917

Patriotic Sermon by Rev. W. T. Wardle of Westminster.

In all the days of American history there never was a time like this. Never was a time when we needed to grip the supreme mission of our nation as now. Our natural heritage has been given us to use, to improve, never to neglect or waste. From the beginning God has given us great leaders. The history of every nation revolves about its leadership. Jewish history has much to do with Moses and Joshua; Assyrian history with Nebuchadnezzar. When we name Julius Caesar, William of Orange, John Knox, Cromwell, Milton, Washington, Lincoln, etc., we are talking history written in big capitals. Never a great crisis but God has brought to the forefront splendid leadership. And our time is no exception. Our God-given liberty is our heritage, too. Graven on our Liberty Bell are the words of Leviticus 25:10, our text, "Proclaim liberty throughout the land to all the inhabitants thereof." And the wealth of the ages could not buy that bell, for it voices our great heritage. Bloodbought and costly our liberty has been gained. Our heritage is luminous in our flag, our national emblem. With white bars voicing purity and right; red bars of courage and valor; with a blue field marking unswerving justice to all, and those golden stars indicating a group of states, singly and unitedly, standing for all the flag means. This and more than this is our heritage. We thank God for all it means to us today. The Spirit of 1776. But in this anniversary week, and hour of supreme moment to us as a nation, well for us if we can catch the Spirit of 1776. That greatest of all patriotic pictures painted by Archibald M. Willard in 1776, has in it the whole story. Study the history leading up to, and made then, and issues resulting, and you are a poor reader if you cannot see it all in that wonderful picture. What is its spirit?

It is the spirit of deep conviction: The same which animated the Pilgrim and Puritan, marked by the great Pilgrim Monument at Plymouth Rock. Convictions born of the great struggles of the past, the strenuous experiences of the present, and large vision of the future. The fact is the Declaration of Independence were impossible without such convictions.

It is the spirit of self-government. The despotism of the old world our fathers had seen, known, felt. They wanted a government free, democratic and representative. They knew the struggle of English freemen when by force they wrested from King John the Magna Charta, the foundation of English freedom. They knew how the nobles of that same land had won from Henry III the principle of representative government when they set up parliament with its two houses. From one point of view it were easier to live under despotism, to serve, for the greatest burden, danger, responsibility was with the ruler. Easier to be a machine, but to govern ones self is a harder task. Yet knowing all this our fathers faced the task, and won out. This was their spirit.

There was a spirit which never for a moment brooked covered conscience. They sought to conserve the conscience of all—righteousness, justice, truth. As they read their Bibles, they knew, "God alone is Lord of the conscience." And no man, nor nation had a right to coerce.

There was the spirit of unselfishness. They builded for the future, far better than they knew. Their Charter of Rights was the Bible. Here was sure foundation, here their final appeal. Here they could read, "The Rise and Fall of Nations." Here they could learn their own need, and find rich supply.

The Spirit of 1776 is the spirit of deep conviction, of Self-Conquest, of Conscience, of Unselfishness, the spirit of the great Book which was their study and their guide. Never a time in all history when we needed so much to catch for ourselves this same spirit.

What is the Spirit of 1917? It is a larger recognition of the value of American citizenship.

Paul was a Roman citizen, unjustly arrested, persecuted he sought safety under the Roman eagle. The Roman citizen in any part of that great empire was safe. The whole government, with its armies made it so. American citizenship means today in this world just what Roman citizenship meant to Paul. It is the traveler's protection and pride. Under the flag he is safe anywhere to follow peaceful pursuits in all the world. To refuse to make this citizenship mean this, by rulers and people alike, is to fail in the performance of a most sacred duty.

1917 means the facing and matching our responsibility. "Power in its last atom is responsibility." All our wealth of resources, our broad acres, given of God, means the burden of duty upon us. Matthew Arnold, the great English scholar, after returning from a visit to our country, said: "I have no fault to find with that country except it is so beastly prosperous." The great question today is, will the nation, to a man, match the crisis?

The spirit of 1917 is the challenge of righteousness. Right doing we urge, but let it be forever remembered that no man nor nation is right by doing right simply. Righteousness means always, and first, right relation. The challenge of the hour is not one of policy, power, statesmanship, money, profits, armies and navies, but is one of our doing the will of God. Lincoln, hearing some one ask whether he thought God was on our side, said: "He was more concerned to know whether we were on the side of God."

To catch the spirit of 1917 study the present conflict. What is it? Not material gain, nor territorial reach, nor wounded honor. But it is the constraining force of humanity and conscience, which can do no other. We are learning the momentous truth that we are at the parting of the ways. We have come to a time of great decision, which means always good or ill to the nation. Civilized government the world over is in peril. The very life of democracy is threatened. To stand aside with stopped ears, averted gaze, folded hands, when we have the right and the power to intervene is to become not a mere spectator but an accomplice.

The spirit of 1917 is guaranteeing Christianity a fair demonstration. That is to say, the world has been depending on civilization, education, governments, human, the arms or war and all have failed. God must be included in all our planning, or as a nation we make the biggest blunder of history. Macdonald, of Toronto, says: "This war is not a crime against humanity, 'tis an apostasy from the Christ." Where is the path? Let us see. From a human view to bring about permanent peace what is necessary? Mr. Asquith, one of the greatest, if not the greatest, lawyer of the century says, there are three fundamentals of peace:

1. Definite and distinct repudiation of militarism.
2. Peace made and kept for the free development of little peoples.
3. Substitute for all entangling alliances a real European partnership based on the recognition of equal rights.

Surely it were worth while to gain such a peace, but for abiding peace count on the Prince of Peace. America is not a name only, 'tis a living spirit, born of suffering, reared in the school of bitter experience, a spirit which has in it purpose, pride, conscience.

The world of Christ is face to face with the old foe wanting to rule by force. As against this we stand for an honest world in which nations keep their word; for a world in which nations do not live by boast nor by force. As freemen we must have liberty to go where our peaceful pursuits call. We will not paint our ships in stripes at the demand of anyone. We will lane at the order of a foreign king. This is our spirit. Here we stand. America cannot in honor or justice do other.

The glory of today is the glory of America serving the world. Across a menaced track we have sent our statesmen, our engineers, our hospital and nurses, and the best of our fathers and brothers and sons. We have opened our treasures and loaned three thousand millions of dollars. Dark, and black as is the hour, yet the spirit of Christ moves the creation.

Limits of Human Nature

Kansas City Star

Occasionally alarming reports get into circulation of the terrible mortality of the men in the trenches. You hear it said that somebody just back from the front reports that the average life of the man on the firing line is seven days, perhaps three months. And few persons appreciate the absurdity of the statement. Recently it has been widely asserted that England has slaughtered her medical men and that sixty thousand have been killed in action.

This last story has been officially denied. Surgeon General Gorgas announced on the authority of a high member of the British army medical corps that less than two per cent of sixty thousand have lost their lives in the service. That means that the number is in the neighborhood of one thousand, instead of sixty thousand.

General Leonard Wood recently wrote that "there is nothing in the development of modern war to indicate that it has become any more deadly in proportion to the numbers engaged, and except in exceptional instances it can be safely said that the loss of life in proportion to the number engaged is in no way heavier than in the days when Frederick the Great's rapid firing, highly trained troops met the enemy."

There is a limit beyond which the deadliness of war may not be pushed because human nature will not stand up under the strain.

Already she has proved herself an honorable, brave and effective ally.

SALINAS IN MIDST OF YEARLY RACING MEET

SALINAS, July 12.—Salinas today is in the midst of the annual racing meet and general big time which marks each summer there. The racing opened yesterday and closes Saturday with a free-for-all with a $500 purse.

Trotters and pacers from throughout Central California—many with enviable records—are making the meet a speedy affair.

Cincinnati boasts that it is the only Ohio city to have an entire family enlist for war service. The family is that of James A. Vine. The son is a member of a guard regiment. His father has joined the regiment band. Vine's wife and daughter, evidently not of the "clinging" type, have enlisted in a Red Cross unit.

TODAY'S WAR RECIPE

An Economical Way to Peel Potatoes

Drop washed potatoes in a vessel of rapidly boiling water and allow them to remain ten minutes. Remove and strip the thin skin as when potatoes are peeled after thorough cooking by boiling. The potatoes will still be practically raw and may be handled like raw peeled potatoes in preparing any dish—scalloped, French or German potatoes, potato chips, etc.

You Should Go to It

If you want an "opening" you must "take steps" to discover it. No bear ever squats on his haunches and waits for a cave to come along and find him.

Whittall Rugs are Superior

WHY DO YOU PREFER TO BUY WHITTALL RUGS? Allow us to answer this question as we are firmly convinced that nine out of every ten persons would answer it:

Because Whittall's Is the Highest Standard of Rug Quality

THE THOROUGHLY PROVEN SUPERIORITY OF WHITTALL RUGS IS ACKNOWLEDGED THROUGHOUT AMERICA

—Conceding the point that possibly a few out of the dozens of rug manufacturers may make rugs equal in quality to Whittall's—and that is making a big concession—even then buyers are taking a risk when they buy other than the make of proven dependability—Whittall's.

—Like many other lines of nationally advertised merchandise Whittall rugs have become the recognized leaders. Every rug put out by the Whittall factory must measure up to the high Whittall standard, otherwise the reputation, which it has taken years of time and a tremendous expenditure of money to build up, would suffer.

Fair Policy of the Whittall Company

—Despite the enviable position held by Whittall rugs the policy of the factory is most liberal. During the past year, when all lines of goods have made tremendous advances in price, only a nominal advance, barely sufficient to cover the increased cost of production, has been made by the Whittall factory.

OUR COMPLETE FALL LINES OF WHITTALL RUGS HAVE JUST ARRIVED—WE INVITE YOU TO CALL.

With Malice Toward None

By Henry James

"The Higher Plane"
St. Louis has a citizen who long has been in pursuit of the "higher plane," and now announces that he has won a place thereon.

Most fortunately for him (or perhaps not, but quite satisfactory) he found roosting at the upper level a woman of attractive personality.

The two discovered that they had been soulmates away back. Just how far they are not sure, but in the matter of antiquity the pyramids have nothing on their affections. Naturally enough—their desire to renew the association. People who had been familiar with each other millions of years ago, must have a lot to talk about. The changes in fashions, the careers of old schoolmates, and many other topics come to mind.

But alas for human joys, the high-plane male had a real meat and bone wife, who would have tipped the plane had she tried to balance on it.

Of the earth, earthly, this excellent lady says she will not board the high-plane female. Not on her tintype, she won't.

Thus the soaring souls get it in the neck. A sad world.

Peace and Indemnity
Prince von Buelow said recently that Germany hopes soon to have peace and an indemnity.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast, of course, this being, however, no excuse for its springing in the breast of Von Buelow.

The awful suspicion arises that the distinguished diplomat is conversing through his cheeks.

Meatless Days
Not when meatless days arrive they are not going to make any noticeable change in the diet of some families. There are Americans who go with out meat because they don't want it, and others who can't get it.

Whiskey
"Blames Whiskey for Killing of His Brother"—headline.
Oh! whiskey be hanged!

Society Men
The charge is made that "society men" will furnish more than a reasonable quota of slackers.

There is nothing improbable in the theory that society men would be glad enough to be slackers in a military sense, as they already are this in a general sense.

Not to be known as "a society man" and nothing else, is to be known as a cumber of the earth.

However, the pretty youth who dances will be easy to spot, and with a little patient drilling may be made into a good soldier.

Flocking to Washington

The papers state that crazy people are flocking to Washington to tell the government how to conduct or to end the war.

Not all of them flocking thither. Some, lacking cartfare, remain at home and do active work as pacifists.

Handicapped

Recently a New York paper attacked at least one California city most savagely, but must have been disappointed at results.

Nobody out this way reads the paper in question, and state papers have declined to give the attack publicity. No use to be worried over a New York opinion anyhow.

Potatoes

Dispatches tell of a man whose land yielded 125 bushels of potatoes to the acre.

Don't people know how to grow potatoes any more? As a kid in the early teens I farmed a corner of the old homestead and raised 400 bushels to the acre.

Don't Worry About It
There is no possibility of the President's making an appointment of any sort, civil or military, without arousing the charge that such appointment is "political."

Censored
Apparently the censorship has gone to the extent of censoring the censor.

No Parades
Secretary Baker says there will be no parading of troops before they sail, and for this one commentator charges him with having "pulled a boner."

Fine idea it would be to advertise the imminent departure of troops in a land infested with spies, now, wouldn't it?

A boner was pulled, all right, but by the commentator.

AMERICA'S BOARD OF WAR DIRECTORS

BERNARD M. BARUCH

A sportsman, and an ardent man, when Bernard M. Baruch, a prominent Wall street operator, was chosen by President Wilson as head of the Council of National Defense, he brought that ardor to his service to the nation.

Baruch is tall and has a distinguished confidence of bearing, with the vivid eye of a genius and the smile of a charmer. Such a good conversationalist is he, and so thoroughly does he understand his subject that he has been able to procure for the government 45,000,000 pounds of copper at a saving of $10,000,000.

No longer does the government take the figure of the lowest bidder when it makes a large purchase. It puts Bernard M. Baruch on the job, he figures what the material ought to cost, then goes out and gets it at that price. And all without a cent of pay. He's even paying his own expenses, and for that matter Baruch pays his own office rent—he has a suite of six or seven rooms—pays the salaries of a dozen of the highest paid clerks, and to cap it all, pays all the living expenses of those clerks while they're in Washington.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

Bill Cole Host to Members
"202 Club" and Friends,
Attend Dance at Balboa

A very delightfully appointed dinner party was given last evening by Bill Cole to the members of the "202 Club" and friends at his home on North Main street, the color scheme being green and white. The table was centered with white Shasta daisies and greenery.

Places were marked with cards bearing hand-painted wind-mills and a delicious four-course chicken dinner was served by the host's mother, Mrs. D. G. Cole, who was prettily thanked by the "202" president, Miss Mary Smith, for the pleasant courtesy.

Miss Smith also announced that the club would meet next Monday evening at the home of Miss Hazel Pentecost. The young people passed the remainder of the evening at Balboa, tripping the light fantastic and voting the evening one of the "best ever."

Those fortunate enough to participate were Misses Gwendolyn Hoyle, Atleta Merigold, Effie Wiley, Muriel Cravath, Vivian Newman, Hazel Pentecost, Blanche Hill, Myrtle Law, Margaret Lyon, Mary Smith, Eugene Trago, Bill Cole, Frank Champion, Neal Ramey, Burr Shafer, Maurice Isch, William Johnson, Russell Johnson and Hillard Tyrrell.

INTERESTING MEETING

Missionary Society of United Presbyterian Church Hears
Reports, Good Paper

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon at the parsonage. The devotional service was led by Mrs. S. H. Finley. Mrs. D. E. Kellogg, "The Lady of the Watch Tower," gave some very interesting messages.

Mrs. D. L. Anderson had prepared a very interesting report of the Women's General Missionary Society recently held in Sterling, Kansas. The reports were sent by Misses Rose and Cynthia Wilson, who were delegates from the Los Angeles Presbytery. Mrs. Anderson was unable to be present and Miss Minnie Cowan read the report.

Mrs. Kennedy read a paper written by Miss Cynthia Wilson, a returned missionary on the mission work in India. This paper is to be sent to each society to be read at their meetings.

The president urged the members to call on a number of the members who are sick.

The ladies enjoyed a social hour, during which delicious maple nut ice cream and waters were served.

Married Yesterday

Miss Mildred L. Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Webster of Delhi, was quietly married yesterday afternoon to G. Harry Stuart, formerly of Delhi, but now a prosperous young rancher of Moorpark, Ventura county. Rev. Mr. Galbraith officiated.

The witnesses to the marriage were the groom's mother, Mrs. Fred S. Stuart and the bride's aunt, Mrs. E. L. Wheeler. The bride was gowned in her graduation gown of shadow lace over white silk, she being a graduate of this year's class of Polytechnic high school. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart went on a honeymoon trip to Santa Catalina and will make their home at Moorpark where they will be followed by the good wishes of their many friends for happiness and prosperity.

THE FIRE AND YOU AND I

A ruddy glow in the air above. The leaping flames of the campfire bright;
The curling spiral of fragrant smoke,
Losing itself in the depths of night,
Around us, half seen through the velvet dusk,
A deeper black in the night's black pall,
Towering up until lost to sight,
Loom the great pines like a shadow-wall.
The snap and crackle of burning wood,
The cricket's chirp and the night-bird's cry,
The gurgling stream and the sighing pines,
And the murmuring wind in the tree-tops high.
Oh, this is the life I love to live!
Close to our Mother Nature's heart;
With the dusky night and the campfire bright,
And the thought that I am of earth apart
Under its soft warm, brown sod;
Over us both the starlit sky;
Lonely, yet calm with the peace of God,
And only the fire and you and I!
—William George Gardner.

Mission Society

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church held its July meeting yesterday afternoon in the church.

Mrs. Ida Blee of Banning was in charge of the devotionals and brought an exceedingly helpful message on "Faith." After a short business meeting, Mrs. J. E. Kellogg gave a splendid report of the Presbytery. Mrs. H. J. Forsy had charge of the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Geo. Whidden read an excellent paper on the home subject, "Alaska."

Mrs. W. A. Nord and Mrs. Forsy gave interesting papers on the foreign topic, "India," the former giving a picture of the worship in a heathen temple, and the latter speaking of the opportunities offered for higher education in that far-away land.

Author Makes Visit

Mrs. Minnie M. Holmes, of 1019 North Main street, had the pleasure of a brief visit yesterday from a distinguished friend, Mrs. B. M. Sinclair, who writes interesting western stories under the name of B. M. Bower. Among her books are "The Phantom Herd" and "The Good Indian."

Mrs. Sinclair has a ranch at Humphrey, Cal., and was on her way there from Texas, where she has been gathering data.

Mrs. Sinclair was accompanied by her son and daughter and her secretary. She and Mrs. Holmes were schoolmates and friends of thirty years ago and the meeting was a happy one.

TOROSA INSTALLS

Impressive Ceremonies By Westminster Staff Mark
Lodge Meeting

Torosa Rebekah lodge held an impressive public installation of officers last evening at Odd Fellows' hall, about 150 members and friends being present.

The district deputy president, Mrs. Alice Hare, and her staff of officers from Westminster, put on the work in a very excellent manner.

A pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation to the past noble grand, Mrs. Irene Mitchell, of a Rebekah pin by Mrs. Leota Allen in a neat speech. Mrs. Mitchell responded thanking the lodge and officers for their co-operation during her period of office. After the ceremonies were presented with beautiful baskets and bouquets of carnations, dahlias and roses by the retiring noble grand, Mrs. Irene Mitchell, and were greatly appreciated.

Ice cream and cake were served in the dining room, the tables being prettily decorated for the occasion.

BEACH PARTY

Employees Crystal Cleaning
Co. Spend Evening on Beach at Balboa

A jolly wigwag bake and beach party was held at Balboa Tuesday evening by the employees of the Crystal Cleaning Company. After arrival at the beach a dip in the surf was a pleasant diversion.

The luscious winners were roasted and eaten with hosts of other good things by the side of the big bonfire.

The latter part of the evening was spent dancing in the pleasant pavilion.

The party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Babbitt, Mrs. Joe Babbitt, the Misses Pearl Norton, Hazel Thompson, Irene Swanner, Mabel Trefelle, Bertha Grigsby, and the Messrs. Martin Beard, Herbert Tooman, Hugh Osborn, Charles Waters and Evelyn and Worth Babbitt.

Mrs. F. W. Wieseman was hostess at a charming porch party yesterday afternoon at her North Broadway home, her guests numbering an even dozen.

The greater part of the afternoon was passed on the pleasant veranda, which was decorated with flags. Needles were busily piled with Red Cross work and the affair was also a belated Day Nursery tea.

After a period of work and chat, the guests were called inside and served with tempting refreshments on a table centered with a large Red Cross emblem, fashioned of scarlet geranium petals. Streamers of red, white and blue crepe paper added to the pretty scheme and red, white and blue flowers and the Stars and Stripes made effective house decorations.

The guests included Messrs. C. F. Hill, D. A. Smith, H. T. Trueblood, I. W. McCormac, Mary Halstead, T. A. Winkler, A. L. Deering, John Wehrly, Catherine Wehrly, C. C. Meyers of Orange and Miss Blanche Graves.

HUGE JUDGMENT DEMANDED FOR RAILWAY CUT $350,000

Answer Is Filed in P. E. Suit
For Condemning Right of Way at Fullerton

Protection District Brings Action For Two Strips On Santa Ana River

If the Pacific Electric goes to trial and the defendants in the case designated on the court books as Pacific Electric Company vs. Albert O. Stovall et al., win, it will take no less than $350,000
to put a railroad through Stovall's ranch at Fullerton.

Answers filed by Attorney E. E.
Keech declare that tremendous damage would be done by the cut proposed in that it would cut off forty-eight orchardists of the Fullerton section from irrigation water.

rigate their lands from the ditch that the Stovall cut would chop off. Some of the ranchers allege a damage of only $1000, and from that the sums vary up to $38,330, which is the amount asked in the answer for B. F.
Porter.

One may judge from the answer that the defendants propose to put squarely up to the court and the P. E.
the full responsibility for interfering in any way with the pipeline of the
A. U. W. Co.

For Right of Way
Yesterday Attorneys Scarborough
& Forgy filed two condemnation actions for the Olive and West Orange Protection District, organized a year ago for the purpose of doing flood protection work on the east side of the Santa Ana river from above Olive to a point in West Orange. Jacob Bargsten is one of the defendants. A right of way is asked across lots 3 and 8, Travis tract, northwest of Orange.

The second action is against Edward B. Keith, whose property is located west of Olive.

Suit on Note
F. C. Krause has brought action as guardian of Daniel Harmon against
W. S. Harris for judgment upon a note

Sale by Estate
G. J. Mosbaugh as executor of the will of Daniel Halladay has reported the sale of lots 1 to 4, block A. W. G.
Jennett's subdivision of the Halladay

DEEP MYSTERY IN SECRET MARKS ON SIDEWALK AND DOOR

Mrs. M. B. Lacy Has Exciting
Experience Yesterday
Shortly After Dinner

Three X's on door and sidewalk—
what do they mean?
Mrs. M. B. Lacy, 705 S. Broadway, has been puzzling over this question since yesterday about 2 o'clock, when she saw a man scratch these marks on the front door of her residence with a nail, and again make them on the sidewalk with blue chalk. Whether the residence has been picked for entrance by a burglar or whether the marks are signs for other purposes, are points that will probably not be cleared until the man is apprehended.

About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon
a man stepped to the front door of the Lacy home, rang the bell and knocked. Getting no response he went to the back door, where he knocked.

Mrs. Lacy could not answer the door, but called to him while he was at the back door and asked what he wanted. He made some kind of excuse, which Mrs. Lacy did not fully understand, but interpreted to mean that he was selling some kind of a brush.

He scratched three X's on the front door while he was there, and as he left the premises he made the same marks on the sidewalk in front, using blue chalk.

Officers were summoned, Dean going down to investigate. The man had disappeared and could not be located in the neighborhood.

It is understood that the man visited other houses on Broadway and left similar marks.

WATER CONSUMPTION RECORD MADE IN JUNE

ORANGE, July 12.—Walt Hogan is the busy guy these days.

Walt puts in his winters winning basketball titles for Orange, and puts in his summers reading water meters for the same town.

During the last month the water meters had Walt stirring faster than a Whittier forward could ever force him to travel.

The first few meters he glanced at Walt thought he must have made a mistake from that height. So he stooped over and brought his eyes several yards closer to the meters.
There was no mistake. When he totalled them all up he found that all previous records for water consumption had been broken.

During the month a total of 15,000-000 gallons of water had been used in the city, making an average of better than half a million gallons per day.
This is a new record.

WASHINGTON TEA POT IS USED BY PIONEERS

SANTA ROSA, July 12.—Members of the Sonoma County Pioneer's Society have added distinctions since their recent meeting at the home of Mrs. A. I. Delk.

On that occasion tea was served to them out of the tea pot in which George Washington brewed what little tea he had during his winter at Valley Forge.

The tea pot had long been in the possession of the Delk family.

dictment returned against him there.
He professes innocence. He will be taken to San Francisco tonight.

EIGHTY AIRMEN WANTED FROM COUNTY OF ORANGE

Recruiting Officer Receives
Orders to Enlist Men For Seaplane Work

Eighty Orange county men with perfect physique, strong nerve and mental poise are wanted for the aviation branch of the navy, according to orders received this morning by Chief Master at Arms McKelvey of the local station.

Orange county has men in all branches of the navy service but the aviation, and McKelvey has been instructed by the Navy Department to get busy on enlistments for this service.

"The navy is planning to train hundreds of youth to man the great fleet of seaplanes and dirigibles that will operate with the fleet in the war zone," says McKelvey. "Perfect physical condition is one of the chief requirements for commission in the flying corps. It takes a man of strong nerve and quick thinking to handle the planes under war conditions. An applicant does not have to show a three-year college course, however, as flying ability will be the first requisite."

The course of instructions for airmen is grouped under the following heads: Shopwork, lectures, free ballooning, captive ballooning, hydrogen generation, motor generation, seaplane electric shop, joiner shop, coppersmith shop, blacksmith shop, fabric shop, balloons, scouting, aerial navigation.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

KEEPER OF STORE AT IRVINE CHARGES MAN WITH LARCENY

It Is Alleged That Employee Got Away With Number
Of Articles

Miss Kate Munger, proprietor of a store at Irvine, has sworn to a complaint charging Marion Pruitt with petty larceny. Pruitt's home is at Orange, but he has had charge of a poolroom and barber shop for Miss Munger at Irvine. Miss Munger stated that pickles, lard, chili sauce and other articles were stolen.

Found Not Guilty
Juan Perez was found not guilty of stealing a buggy from Julian Luna of Delhi. It was proven that the buggy is missing, but it was not proven that Perez got it. Justice Cox could not see why Perez should have pulled three boards off of a barn to get a buggy out of it when he could have taken the buggy out of the door. Augustine Cervantes testified that he saw Perez pulling the boards off of the barn.

ADVOCATES SCHEME FOR FLOOD CONTROL

Not a levee on each side, but a series of levees, is the plan advanced by F. G. Bates of Orange for keeping the Santa Ana river within bounds during flood seasons and practically,
he says, doing away with the possibility of a repetition of the damage done by the overflow in January, 1916.

It is Bates' idea to build a narrow channel down the middle of the present river bed, the channel to be flanked by banks not further separated than about 60 feet, center to center of each bank. On each side of these levees Bates would level off a strip about 100 feet in width and then build two more banks on each side. Beyond these he would have another set of banks.

On the level sections thus afforded Bates suggests that summer crops be planted.

Bates' scheme so to impound the river waters at flood season was prompted, he says, by the fact that all plans so far coming to his notice are based on shunting flood waters from one man's section on to another's. He declares that if his idea were carried out this unsatisfactory feature would be obviated.

The building of the system of levees
as outlined by Bates could be accomplished, he figures, at $1000 per mile.
Bates says he is trying to interest owners of land along the river in his scheme. He himself owns property adjacent to the river's bed.

POOLROOM AND BARBER SHOP ARE BURGLARIZED

A. F. Broussard's poolroom and barber shop at La Habra were burglarized last night. The thief broke glass out of a rear door. From the poolroom side he got some tobacco, cigarette papers and $2.75. From the barber shop he got two clippers, a razor and $2.60 in a time bank. Under Sheriff

ZIMMERMAN IN HINDU CONSPIRACY, CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Revealing the strong official backing which Germany gave to the Hindu revolution plots for which 100 persons are under indictment here, it became known today that no less a person than Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, the Kaiser's foreign minister, is one of those charged.

The Federal dragnet now is steadily rounding up the men accused of conspiracy. Arrests have been made in San Francisco and in New York and Ogden, Utah, in the past eighteen hours. Among those taken into custody yesterday was G. B. Lal, lecturer in Hindu literature at the University of California. He was surrendered by his attorney and released on $5000 bail.

and Vard W. Hannum, of Anaheim.

nounced today, will be accepted.
Ralph's office is over the McFadden

SCHOOL LAND FUND IS INCREASED BY SALES

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—W. S.
Kingsbury, state surveyor general,
has received a list of sales of vacant school land in the state which have been approved by the government and forwarded by Secretary of the Interior Lane.

The list includes 17,165 acres of land in the Visalia land district and 4446 acres in the Independence land district, located in the east-central part of the state.

According to Kingsbury applications for the purchase of some of the land listed were made as far back as 1891
when the state sold the land for $1.25 an acre. Under an act of 1909 the sale of land now averages $10.30 an acre.
The money derived from the sale of the land goes into the school land fund.

EDUCATORS TO SEE 70 MADE U. S. CITIZENS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 12.—The 8000 delegates attending the National Education Association convention here tonight will see seventy aliens made citizens of the United States.

A special session of the Multnomah county circuit court will be held on the stage of the auditorium and the seventy aliens, with their wives and families, will occupy the center of the rostrum. Each new citizen will be presented with an American flag.
Three of the applicants for citizenship will be publicly examined.

Following the exercises, Caroline
Hedger, Chicago; Cora Wilson Stewart, Frankfort, Ky.; Charles E. Rugh, Berkeley, Cal., and David Starr Jordan,
chancellor of Leland Stanford University, will speak.

Today was taken up principally with meetings of the various departments and allied organizations of the association.

BREAD DENIED BIRDS, SQUIRRELS IN BRITAIN

LONDON, June 30.—(By Mail.)— Kindness to animals is a secondary consideration when your country's at war, an American woman in London learned at the expense of two pounds, ten shillings. Even at that she had a story that left few dry eyes in the court room.

Charged with feeding considerable quantities of bread to birds and squirrels in her garden, an offense under the new Defense of the Realm act,
she told the following story:

"I am 73 years old. For seventy years I have always fed birds and animals. I have lost two sons in war, one at San Juan Hill, and the other at Gallipoli. I am alone in the world and the little creatures are my only friends."

Somewhat to everyone's surprise,
however, the judge fined her the maximum for a first offense and warned her that a repetition would be severely dealt with.

CORONA ASKING FOR WORK UPON HIGHWAY

The Board of Supervisors has received a letter from I. E. Farrar, secretary of the Corona Chamber of lieves some work could be done upon the Santa Ana Canyon road to advantage. It is stated that there is a stretch on both sides of the Sulphur Slide construction work that could be put in better fix.

BUILDING MEN IN L. A. ORGANIZE UNDER NEW NAME

Builders' Exchange Will Be Known as the Building Material Association of L. A.

"With the unanimous adoption of a new name—The Building Industries Association of Los Angeles—by the Builders' Exchange of Los Angeles, the greatest forward step was taken in the movement to better building conditions in Southern California, since the agitation along these lines started nearly two years ago," says C. W. Houghtaling, secretary of the Orange County Building Industries Association. "The meeting was held in the hall of the Exchange, which was filled to capacity with those men who have been most prominent in the building business in Southern California, representing the various crafts, trades and associations who will unite in a powerful and what promises to be a successful effort to better building conditions in the building industries of Southern California."

"President J. H. Bean of the Exchange extended a formal welcome to the Master Builders' Association which has affiliated with the Exchange in the formation of the new association. The announcement of the decision of the Master Painters to join the organization was greeted with hearty approval. L. F. Danforth, speaking for the Master Painters, heartily endorsed the future plans of the association and called attention to the fact that the merchants and manufacturers, the doctors and practically all professional men had been very thoroughly organized through their clubs and associations for many years."

"The building industries of Los Angeles are the most important of all the industries represented in the city and their prosperity must consequently be reflected in the prosperity of the city at large."

"Co-operation was the keynote of the meeting with the object of placing the building business on a sane basis whereby every man could be assured a reasonable and fair profit for his labor or material."

"Walter A. Simons explained the desire of the association to establish a standard form of contract, standardization of materials, a universal pay day, opening of bids in public, the co-operation with the architects in the hope of improvement in the construction of a better class of buildings, and the elimination of irresponsible contractors and material men and various existing practices detrimental to the building business."

"The owner who builds in the future will assure himself, if he builds well, that the men who do the work are not only honest but men who are organized to handle the work more economically and who, working in harmony, can give better results in less time than the man who must subdivide his work among sub-contractors who have nothing in common with him, and look forward to pay-day as the end of all interest in the job as far as they are concerned."

The man who has his heart in the building business is the man who sees the need of getting better acquainted and in closer touch with his fellow men to whom he will award many sub-contracts in the future and to whom he will look for a better class of work than his average competitor would insist upon."

SEAVEY DECLARES SCHOOLS ARE GIVEN AMPLE PROTECTION

Board of Control Member Says Law Good For Taxpayer

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—Characterizing the new tax-limitation law as one of the best measures ever enacted for the protection of the tax payers of California, Clyde L. Seavey, member of the State Board of Control, today pointed out that no possible harm could come to the schools as a result of its operation. He said:

"So far as the public school revenues are concerned, no injury can possibly result from the tax-limitation law. The law is designed to protect the tax payers of the state. It limits county taxes to an amount that will not exceed by more than 5 per cent the amount levied for all purposes the previous year. When real necessity can be shown, this limit may be exceeded, by obtaining the consent of the State Board of Authorization. Even if the Board of Authorization should refuse to consent, the right is reserved to the people of a county to sanction the increase, if in their opinion the increase is warranted. It is one of the best laws for the protection of the tax payers ever enacted."

"Furthermore, the law distinctly provides that the needs of the public schools must first be taken care of in fixing tax levies. This provision shows that the framers of the act took special precaution to protect the schools."

"The only place where there is even a remote possibility of school revenues being adversely effected is in section 15, which abolishes minimum tax levies. It is of course conceivable, although altogether improbable, that a hostile board of supervisors might attempt to use that section to restrict school revenues. But if such attempt were made the Board of Authorization, acting under the provision requiring that the schools be taken care of, could step in and compel proper provision to be made for the schools."

"It would have been extremely unfortunate if such a splendid law were suspended by referendum proceedings. No harm can possibly result from the law, while its operation will result in widespread economy throughout the state."

STATE GRAPE GROWERS HAIL SENATE ACTION

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—Grape growers of California are jubilant over the action of the Senate in exempting wine from the food control bill in view of the fact that bumper grape crops are expected.

According to the bulletin of the State Viticultural Commission just issued, normal crops are looked for in all the grape growing counties.

In Fresno and San Joaquin counties, two of the largest grape and raisin producing counties in the state, 100 per cent crops are predicted. In the other counties the per cent ranges from 85 to 1000.

S. A. PEDAGOGUE HANDLING CASH FOR SOUTHERN PACIFIC

O. Garber, Commercial Instructor at H. S., Asst. Cashier at Local Depot

O. Garber, commercial instructor at the Santa Ana high school, will spend his vacation in assisting in taking care of the cash at the local office of the Southern Pacific.

Increase in the volume of business at the office has necessitated the creation of the position of assistant cashier and it is being filled by Garber, who went to work yesterday, and will remain during the vacation. The new position will be maintained permanently and when Garber returns to his duties at the high school he will be succeeded by some one.

Garber is an old railroad man, having resigned his position in Los Angeles with the Denver and Rio Grande and Union Pacific to accept the appointment as commercial instructor here. He handled Pullman tickets there. He also had experience in Redlands.

CHAUTAUQUA NOT TO MANAGE LYCEUM COURSE THIS YEAR

Committee to Hear J. Stitt Wilson, May Arrange For Lectures Here

At a meeting of the Chautauqua guarantors at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night it was decided that that organization would not undertake the management of a lyceum course in Santa Ana this year.

Recently the committee of the schools that handled the lyceum last year and the year previous voted to go out of existence with the request that the Chautauqua guarantors take over the course, should they deem it advisable to conduct the course this coming winter.

After discussing the matter last night it was found that it was almost the unanimous opinion of those present that with many other calls upon the people it would not be best to attempt to have the lyceum course this year.

Carson Smart stated that he had heard some of the lectures being given by J. Stitt Wilson, former mayor of Berkeley, and he considered them exceptional lectures. A committee consisting of A. B. Gardner, W. W. Hoy and Rev. A. T. O'Rear will hear Wilson lecture at Pomona tonight, and may make arrangements to have him come to Santa Ana for a series of six or eight lectures.

BAY CITY HOST TO BELGIAN MISSION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—San Francisco is host to the Belgian war mission today.

During the day and a half that the representatives of Belgium are guests of San Francisco the people of California will be told the story of Belgium's suffering by those who have been there and suffered.

At a great mass meeting tonight Baron Moncheur, chief of the mission will discuss the pointed subject of "What It Means to Be Hungry." Early this morning the mission arrived and was met at the ferry by a reception committee of civilians and army and navy officials. From the ferry the commission was taken to a hotel, escorted by a guard of honor from the light cavalry troops stationed at the Presidio and after a brief rest, proceeded to the Cliff House for luncheon.

Between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon the first public reception will be held in the Civic Auditorium when Mayor Rolph will extend the Belgians San Francisco's official welcome. Tonight the mass meeting takes place. Luncheons and dinners by the Commercial Club and by Belgian relief workers, automobile trips through San Francisco, a bay excursion on the mine planter Armistead and just a little time to rest will make the visit a busy one.

The commissioners are: Baron Moncheur, chief of the special mission; Lieutenant General Leclercq, chief of the military mission; Major Pesterlieth, First Regiment Guides, Belgian army; Lieutenant Count d'Urse, Second Regiment of Guides, Belgian army; Mr. Hugh Gibson, secretary of the embassy, representing the Department of State; Captain C. Cook, U. S. A., military aide to General Leclercq; James G. Whiteley of the Belgian Legation.

Girl Injured Miss Eleanor Fruit sustained ankle and wrist sprains when the horse she was driving became frightened by a broken shaft and ran away. The accident happened near El Modena.

DELIVERY SERVICE GIVEN HUNTINGTON BEACH POSTOFFICE

Postmaster C. D. Overshiner of this city is in receipt of the following letter from Congressman William Kettner:

"I take pleasure in informing you that an order has been issued for the establishment of village delivery service with one carrier, at Huntington Beach, Cal., effective September 1, 1917. I trust that this will be pleasing news."

This is the first delivery service of this kind ever installed in Orange county. It calls for one delivery a day.

OLIVE MILL SETS PROSPERITY MARK

ORANGE, July 12.—Stockholders of the Olive Milling Company, holding their annual meeting, heard the secretary's report and financial statement showing that the year just closed was the most prosperous in the history of the corporation.

The reports revealed a very flourishing condition, both in volume of business and net earnings. The combined capital and surplus of the company stands at $115,000 with a snug margin for profit and loss as a new working account.

Many improvements in the plant were noted, making it one of Orange county's model manufacturing establishments and one of which the community may justly feel proud.

The usual semi-annual dividend was voted, to be followed thirty days later by a special dividend, making four dividends during the fiscal year ending June 30.

The following constitute the board of directors and officers elected: D. C. Pixley, president; R. J. Blee, vice president; F. A. Blake, secretary; National Bank of Orange, treasurer; N. T. Edwards and John H. Edwards.

PEOPLE TO RATIFY 3 NEW CALIFORNIA LAWS

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—Three laws passed by the last Legislature—the Medical Practitioners' act, the tax levy bill and the non-sale of trout act—will be held up for ratification by the people until the general election in November, 1918.

Referendum petitions already have been filed with Secretary of State Jordan against the first two acts and the petition against the non-sale of trout act will be filed shortly.

Druggists and others who claim that the medical practitioners' act makes no provision for them in that they have no representation on the state medical examiners' board, circulated the petition to hold up the act.

The opponents of the tax levy bill of which Clyde L. Seavey, member of the State Board of Control is author, are the educators. Their objection to the bill, framed to prevent supervisors from raising the tax rate more than 5 per cent over the previous year, is that it knocks out the minimum allowance for schools.

Opposition to the non-sale of trout bill is led by the Tahoe Trout Fishermen's Union engaged in catching and marketing trout. Their chief argument against the bill is that it sounds the death knell of their business.

FEATURE STORY FOR THIS DAY BY UNITED PRESS

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES.
May 30 (by mail).—Less than three months ago, the French armies took back from the Germans over 1,000 square kilometers of French soil, blasted, blackened and devastated as though God himself had just passed over it His most terrible scourge. Today, under the magic touch of the French armies, who know both how to fight and to work, this thousand square kilometers of redeemed France is blossoming and blooming like a rose.

To the person who passed through this district the day after the German hordes had passed, and who passes there today, the change almost surpasses human belief.

The contrast is so great that one is tempted to believe that other elements than merely those of the French mind and the French arm have entered into the transformation. One jumps impulsively to the conviction that Mother Nature herself had lent a helping and lavish hand in an effort to recompense the smitten district from the sufferings it had undergone.

Startling Question
Entering this sunny, smiling, verdant district for the first time since the German devastations, a person's first startling question to himself is "Did the Germans really destroy anything? Wasn't it all merely a myth? It seems humanly impossible that the change there apparent could be wrought in less than three months."

Nothing has been done towards restoring the ruined towns, villages and farm houses. But the original impression of utter devastation created by them is immensely softened by the fact that they are now all hidden in waving grain fields, smiling vineyards and blossoming orchards.

The French soldiers, working under direction of French generals, who know other things than mere military operations, have found the means of saving thousands of trees.

Throughout the entire district devastated by the Germans there were thousands of trees that the close pursuit of the French kept the Germans from having time completely to cut down. Instead, the Cultured Tree Killers cut off a circle of bark around the trunk of the tree, which with a few days' exposure to the sun would be sufficient to kill peach, plum, apple, apricot and cherry trees that had been half a century attaining their then actual productiveness.

Easiest Problem
These trees presented the easiest problem. The wounds were merely bound up like the wounds of a soldier. Thousands of army surgeons and Red Cross ambulance drivers and stretchers assisted to do this work. The circles where the bark had been cut away was first covered with a special grafting cement, and the entire wound then carefully bandaged up after with the same bandages that had been prepared for human limbs.

So great was the number of trees in this way that the entire available supply of grafting preparation was quickly exhausted. Tar was then used as a substitute and grafting was a loamy clay. Substitutes for surgical bandages also had to be found and in the end it was discovered that moss twisted and tied about the dressed wound was as effective as anything else.

A more serious problem, of course, presented itself where the trees had been entirely cut or sawed down. But here French genius also solved the problem.

The stumps, protruding usually two or three feet from the ground, were first trimmed off in a scientific manner so as to conserve the sap and prevent the death of the roots. This stump was then treated with the grafting paste and carefully bandaged till the cut-down tree lying at the side budded from the sap and life that remained in it after being cut down. Branches that showed great numbers of buds and other signs of exceptional vitality were then cut off and finally grafted into the carefully prepared stump.

Today these grafts are in full leaf and blossom, the roots appear to have been entirely saved and by this process years have been saved in restoring the downtown orchards of France.

On every hand are also to be seen carefully cultivated and sown fields each bearing its nice little painted sign.

TERRIAN CULTIVE PAR L'ARMEE (Ground Cultivated by the Army)

Other Rescue Work
As the troops pass, either going to or from the front, they stop and dedicate a day to the cultivation of the redeemed fields. The next day they pass on and other troops resume the work. It is doubtful if any one soldier will ever again see the fields he has worked—or help gather the crops he has cultivated. But he works just as willingly knowing that it is all for France and all for the ultimate victory.

No more convincing denial of the German claim that they abandoned this territory of their own free will and not under irrevocable military pressure could be imagined than a glimpse at the wonderful productivity of these growing fields and blossoming orchards. While their abundant crops will be welcomed by all France this coming summer and fall, there can be no question but they would have been thousands of times more vitally necessary to starving Germany—had she been able to hang onto them.

SANTA ANANS PAY Y. M. C. A. CAMP VISIT

CAMP WILKIE, Catalina Island, July 11.—Visitors' day, an all-important day in the Y. M. C. A. camp, now in progress at Catalina has come and gone with great success. Nine of the parents and friends were interested enough in the boys to make the trip after being shown around camp they were entertained with a swimming meet and basketball game. They stayed for the supper and part of the campfire service, returning on the camp launch to Avalon about 8:30. The following made the trip: George S. Smith, A. H. Morrow, Mrs. Jayne, and Miss Cox of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Richards and daughter, Mrs. S. A. Cole and Mrs. R. G. Cole of Orange. All were highly pleased with the camp and its enthusiastic bunch of boys.

Most of the boys are gone today on a trip around the island on the Catalina Flyer. Tomorrow will be held the track meet and the next morning the boys will start for home, arriving in Santa Ana about 7:30, Friday evening.

U-BOATS' DOOM SEEN BY JAPANESE SAILORS

TOKIO, June 11.—(By Mail).—Sailors on Japanese warships now aiding the allies in the Mediterranean believe they are under the protection of the gods and are sure that by co-operating with the British and French they can crush the entire strength of the German submarines.

This Japanese confidence in their naval prowess and their faith in their Mikado and forerunners is described in a dispatch received here from the Paris correspondent of the Asahi Shimbun, who writes that he was allowed to visit his countrymen at a French port on the Mediterranean.

"Our men are all in high spirits," he says. "They pray profound respect to their flag daily and give cheers of Banzaï to their emperor. A small banner of the Rising Sun is hoisted at the port, alongside of the French Tricolor. The Japanese firmly believe they are under the protection of the gods and are sure that with the other allied ships they can defeat the submarine menace."

"They are aware of their duties to the other members of the Entente, especially toward England, with which their country is bound in alliance. I believe the co-operation of our navy in the Mediterranean will benefit Japan not only politically, but morally and in a military sense."

GIRL'S STATEMENT WILL HELP SANTA ANA

Here is the girl's own story: "For years I had dyspepsia, sour stomach and constipation. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped until I tried buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. ONE SPOONFUL held me INSTANTLY." Because Adler-ika flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICK-EFFECT action of anything we ever sold. EXPERTS WITH GERMAN NAMES AID U. S. IN WAR

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Frankfurter, Keppel and Lippman, German sounding names which may be, their owners are working eighteen hours a day helping America beat the Kaiser—and Keppel's parents were Irish.

Felix Frankfurter, Walter Lippman and Frederick Keppel are Secretaries of War Baker's confidential advisors. All left lucrative positions to enter America's service.

Dr. Keppel was dean of Columbia University when the war broke out, but he got a leave of absence, hurried to Washington and joined Baker's staff. His hours are 9 a. m. to 12 midnight.

Felix Frankfurter had war department experience as War Secretary Stimson's right hand man under Taft. When war came he was a law lecturer at Harvard and was also handling important cases before the supreme court.

Walter Lippman's chief task with Baker is solving economic war problems. He has written several books on diplomacy and economics and was editing a magazine when Uncle Sam jumped into the ring.

PORKER STOLEN: FOWL THIEF IS DRIVEN OFF

WINTERSBURG, July 12.—Some petty thieving is going on in this neighborhood, probably induced by the high prices of meat. E. A. Teel recently lost a fine young pig which was being fattened for family use. Friday night H. O. Ensign had an encounter with a chicken thief. The Professor had been out to a cabinet meeting, and as he rode up to the house on his bicycle, saw someone at the chicken coops. Thinking it was a member of the family who had come out to quiet a disturbance among the flock, he rode right up and said, "Hello!" The figure straightened up, gave one look at him, then started to run. And the Professor kept at his heels—on the wheel—until the fellow dodged in between the barn and other buildings, and finally got out of sight. While Professor Ensign failed to catch the thief, it is not thought the thief succeeded in catching any chickens. It might be well these days to keep an extra lookout for light fingered people, at least, that is what the Ensigns are doing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hathaway, Mrs. E. Meredith, Rev. and Mrs. O. N. Oleson motored to Pomona Tuesday in the Chalmers. They went by way of Brea canyon, and about half way through, had a puncture to relieve the monotony. But since this is the first one in nearly two years, no one complained. The aged mother of H. H. Hathaway was visited by the Hathaways and Mrs. Meredith, while Rev. and Mrs. Oleson spent the day with the latter's mother and sister, who are in Pomona for the summer. The weather was very warm.

The Misses Wilson, who recently moved to their own home in Corona, write that they are nicely settled and very happy. Miss Laura Wilson is to begin school in Los Angeles July 22, a summer session of methods for primary teachers. Two of the girl friends in Corona are to attend also. Ralph Murdoch of Strathmore, Tulare county, is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Slater. He was a delegate to the Christian Endeavor convention at Riverside, and at the Epworth League here Sunday night gave a fine talk to the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Slater and Andy Magison went grunion fishing Monday evening, but the run was not very good, and about all they had to show for the trip was the fun and fish stories.

Attorney Wells of Los Angeles made a short visit Monday to the home of his brother, R. O. Wells and family. He was accompanied by his son London.

Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Huff drove to Los Angeles Saturday where they visited the latter's cousin, Mrs. Ryan. At Hawthorne, they were guests of the doctor's daughter, Mrs. Paan, and family, returning Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerhart, Mrs. E. Meredith, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hathaway went to Huntington Beach Monday afternoon to fish from the pier. They had excellent success, each one landing several of the finny tribe.

The boulevard has been given a covering of fine gravel, which will improve the road in time, but at present is hard on tires. The bad break in the pavement a short distance west of the church was repaired Tuesday, the county sending out workmen to do the job.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Farrar, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kettler, and the children, went to Anaheim Landing Wednesday evening to stay until Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerhart and G. M. Roberson and wife drove to Long Beach Thursday, the latter to visit their cousin, Miss Mary Philpot. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ruoff and their children spent Monday evening at W. F. Slater's.

Mrs. Riley Graham, of Blythe, who is in Huntington Beach for a few weeks, visited J. J. Graham and family Tuesday. Mrs. Graham is taking care of the business at her father's, Judge Seeley's office, while he is busy superintending text city.

Mrs. Nathaniel Walton went to Sawtelle Tuesday to visit her mother, returning Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckwith and Edie spent Monday evening in Santa Ana with the latter's mother, Mrs. Laver.

Miss Mary Gothard and Edwin Gothard enjoyed a fishing trip and outing at Huntington Beach Tuesday with their uncle, John Anderson.

Charles Overholzer returned to Lordsburg Sunday night after a visit here several days with friends.

Mrs. J. D. Shutt spent part of Monday enjoying the sea breezes at Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Earl Gardner and two daughters spent Monday at J. D. Shutt's.

Miss Eva Murdy went to Los Angeles Tuesday to visit her sister, Miss Hetty Murdy, returning Wednesday evening.

IN THE VILLAGE OF SAVY

(NOTE.—The second of the series of stories by William Philip Simms, United Press staff correspondent, written from the war diary of a French citizen of Savy follows.)

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, June 26 (by mail).—The Prussians rule with an iron rod in the occupied territory of France, as the following items from the diary of an inhabitant of the village of Savy, a few miles to the west of St. Quentin, clearly show.

April 25 (1915).—The Garde Champetre (village constable) has been ordered to inform farmers that they are not to cut hay or clover under 500 francs penalty.

April 30.—Germans make house to house search for grain. The Garde distributes forms to be filled out by farmers showing how much grain they are planting.

May 1.—Russian prisoners brought here to pull up sugar beets for the Germans.

May 4.—The inhabitants have been deprived of bread four days because M. Lebrun, the baker, is refused food unless he buys it with German money and there is no German money among Savy civilians.

May 10.—Germans, employing Russian prisoners, have broken the last four millstones in Grenier's mill.

May 17.—The Germans have sheared all sheep and taken the wool.

May 21.—Beginning today Lebrun is baking bread made of American flour. The ration is 250 grammes per head per day.

May 23.—Today is Pentecost. The Cure went to Etroelles to celebrate mass but as he had no laissez-passer the Germans seized him, took him in a cart to Holnon and fined him 50 francs.

May 25.—Rumor that Italy has declared war against Germany.

July 1.—The Garde was sent by the Kommandantur to Henri Carly's house to ask how many wagons he had in his barn. C's only answer was to hit him in the face, and he is to go to prison in St. Quentin for 14 days.

July 21.—Notice on church door states men, women, girls and boys are almost invariably a little straight-lined one-piece affair of jersey satin or taffeta with the accent on the jersey, worn over little straight knickers of matching material.

The jersey ones, which are particularly smart, are banded around the sleeves, armholes and the neckless necks and the knee-length hems with embroidered designs of worsted in brightest shades.

The taffest suits of black of blue are most effectively plain with a piping of gayly colored figured silk kept all on edge or a wide sash grille of Roman striped, plaid or Oriental designed silk.

Shades of Miss Cleopatra Ptolomey, but the new Egyptian bathing suits quite take the palm (of course a date palm) for being up to date by reverting to the most ancient date. Smartest thing in bathing suits in the Nile and in the days of the Ramesses have been dug up for our 1917 adornment.

The suits are of satin in dark shades—though one of Nile green is most appropriate—and they are little straight lined one-piece models like their more conservative and conventional jersey sisters. They are appliqued, however, around the low neck, arm holes and around the hem with lotus flowers, queer two-headed gods and hieroglyphics in most approved mummy case designs and colorings. There are stockings and bathing shoes and caps shaped like Egyptian headresses and beach cushions and parasols and, yes, even knitting bags all applied to match.

They are a sort of cross between Little Egypt and a package of cigarettes and you can't help feel the sands of the desert were a much more fitting setting for 'em than the sands of Bailey's Beach or Atlantic City. Some of the bronzed life saving guards might be pressed into service as Nubian slaves and retainers just to carry out the local color and a few bath-houses shaped like the pyramids wouldn't be amiss.

The costume is truly much more nautical than nautical and thus an all-mummed-up 1917 beach belle will look more like an Egyptian friezing than an American bathing girl.

JUST LIKE ATLANTIC CITY?

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 12.—(By Mail)—If anybody does a bathing suit and goes to any of the many popular beaches of this city, he or she goes to bathe—not to exhibit charms of clothes or otherwise. It's the new bathing regulations. They've got to be below the knee and to the elbow, and "fluffy." No skin-tight or one-piece stuff goes. There's considerable gloom on the beaches.

SPORTS

By H. C. Hamilton

NEW YORK, July 12.—One of the most popular league managers who ever piloted a team in the National League was headed to minor league-dom or private life when Jimmy Callahan drew his release from the Pittsburgh League club. In spite of the fact that he has twice registered failures in the big show Callahan is respected as a smart baseball leader, a fine developer of pitchers, and a gentleman.

Callahan first was a major league manager in Chicago, stepping in there after a brilliant career as a pitcher and outfielder. Backed by Charles Comiskey's open purse he attempted to lead the White Sox to another pennant, but his efforts were failures. He developed a marvelous pitching staff, one that ranked with the best. Red Faber, Mel Wolfgang, Eddie Cicotte, Jim Scott, Red Russell, Ray Schalk, Happy Felsch and other Chicago stars went to the Windy City under his regime.

When he was let out by Comiskey he went to the Pacific Coast League and plans were laid for him to run a club there until Barney Dreyfuss decided on him as a successor to Fred Clarke.

Callahan jumped at the chance to stick as a big league manager. In spite of the fact that he was killed a team that would hardly have been a good minor league club he went into the thing with his whole heart and tried hard to produce something. Experiment after experiment did nothing for the club's betterment. In addition he was guilty of several mistakes that made him decidedly unpopular with certain members of the club. Then the fans began to roast. There was nothing left but to give him the gate.

The release of Douglas Baird, an infielder, was one of Callahan's mistakes; his attempts to discipline Al Mamaux was another. Both cost ball games for the Pittsburgh club. Mamaux is one of the best pitchers in the league—Baird one of the most timely hitters.

In spite of his failures and his errors Callahan goes from the National League with the good wishes of every manager and owner in the circuit.

FRENCH VICTORY MADE POSSIBLE BY LONE SHOT FROM 1 GUN

Henry Wood Writes of Wonderful Marksmanship of France's Gunners

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN CHAMPAGNE, June 30 (By Mail).—The most remarkable feat of marksmanship of the war occurred on May 20, during artillery preparation that preceded the French's final conquest of Mount Cornillet and Mounts Teton and Casque.

A French gun crew, manning one of the new 400-millimeter French guns, and firing at a distance of not less than ten miles, placed one of their projectiles much larger than a human being and weighing over half a ton, in the ventilating shaft of the German's tunnel under Mount Cornillet.

This one shot can actually be said to have made possible the French victory of the same day in which the final conquest was made of the northern slopes of the Moronvillier crest from Vornillet to Mount Teton.

Defense Masterpiece
The tunnel under Mount Cornillet was one of the veritable masterpieces of defensive organization which the Germans have perfected in the hope of maintaining an unbreakable hold on French soil. The system of tunnels underneath in which reserves could be kept safe from all bombardment was calculated to render the mount absolutely untakable and to insure permanently the German's stranglehold on Champagne.

The tunnel consisted of three galleries which were united in the center of a cross corridor. Several ventilating shafts extended upward to the top of the mountain and ventilation was assured by hand-worked ventilators.

Tunnel Checks French
It was this tunnel that on April 17, in the original French attack along the Moronvillier front that checked the French on the extreme left. As the victorious "poilus" swept up the Moronvillier crest, driving everything before them, three battalions of reserves, fresh and fully protected in the tunnel from the French's artillery preparation, suddenly dashed out and delivered a counter-attack that checked the French foot soldiers already exhausted from a long vigorous attack and advance.

The latter dug in, however, before the mouth of the tunnel and were able to hold out till May 4. The Germans in the meantime having brought up fresh troops from the rearward through the tunnel and repaired their positions at the exit of the tunnel, were able finally to force the French to fall back.

Two weeks later the French again undertook the capture of the mount. Everything depended upon either the capture or the destruction of the tunnel, and for this some of the heaviest French artillery was brought into play.

Rain Gas Shells
During the artillery preparation of May 19, gas shells were rained into the mouth of the tunnel until it was practically certain that the garrison had been driven out or killed. The airplanes, however, were unable to report any indication of serious damage to the tunnel with the exception of the entrance, which, however, in view of the experience of the first attack, could hardly be counted on as insuring the destruction of the tunnel. The bombardment continued with all its intensity and with an ever-increasing accuracy, as every shot was controlled by aerial observation, until suddenly during the forenoon of the 20th, just a few hours before the infantry was scheduled to dash to the assault, the big 400-millimeter shell struck squarely in the principal ventilator shaft of the tunnel.

No doubt remained in the minds of the French commanders of the efficiency of this shot and they ordered their troops to the assault. But it was only after the mountain with its tunnel was taken that the full effects of the shot could be established.

The shell penetrating the airshaft demolished the transverse corridor which connected up the three galleries. Half of the garrison was dead and the entrances so filled up that the rest could not escape. Several hundred prisoners were taken from the interior.

A Drop On a Touchy Corn

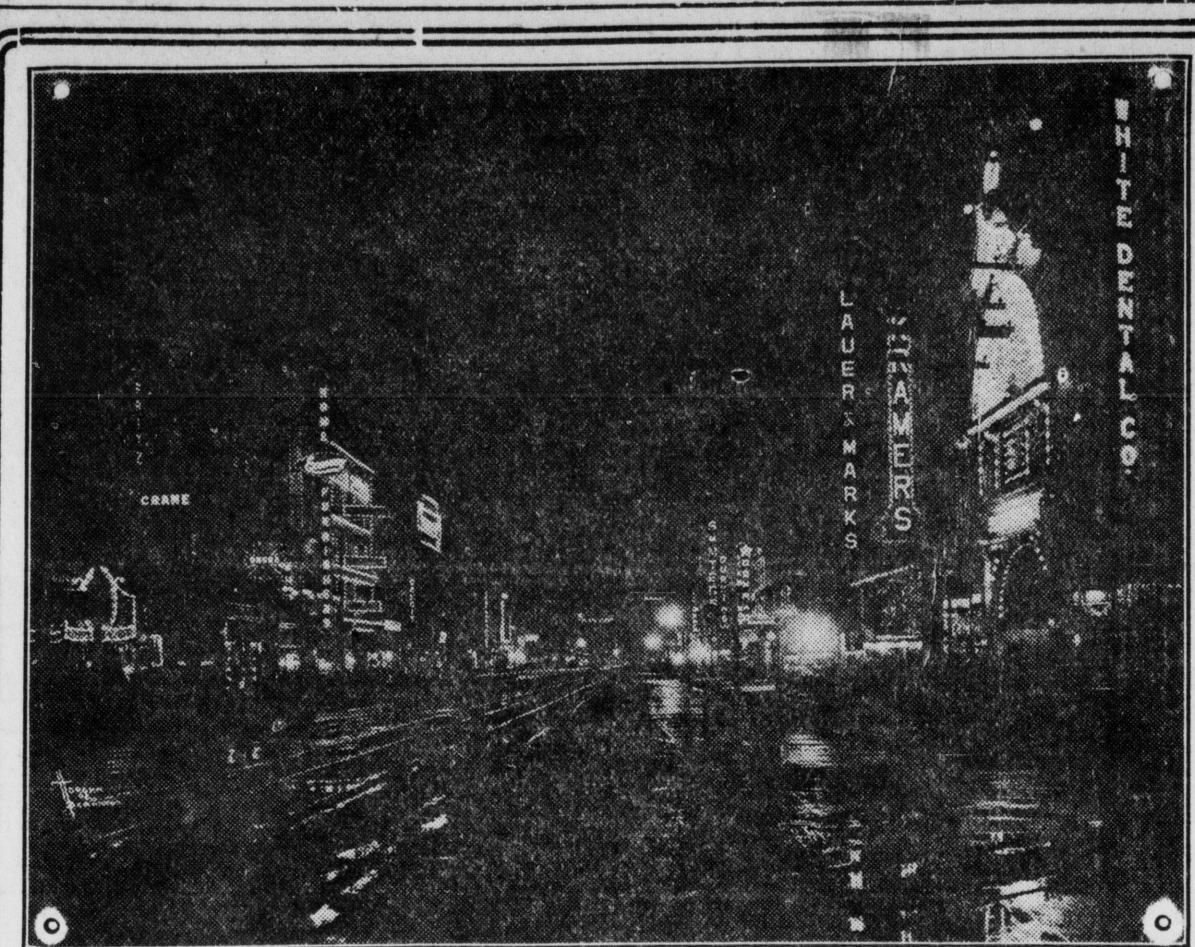

Instant relief! Then corn or callus lifts off with fingers.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain.

A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone for a very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It does not eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. No soreness or smarting. Women should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.
